One of the correspondents of the Associated Press says fighting so far has been confined wholly to rear guard actions. The Russian force is now concentrated in a series of exceedingly strong positions around Liao Yang, but the whole withdrawal was in accordance with a prearranged plan. It is certain that the armies are now in close touch. The Japanese are advancing along both of the roads converging on Liao Yang, but the cruciat question, whether it is the main Rusman army that is concentrated there to receive them or merely a strong screen has not been answered up to this date.

Much depends upon the weather. It is possible that the recent rains may have made General Kuropatkin's withdrawal impossible even if he desired 40 withdraw, or that a further down pour may disarrange the plans of both sides, but the latest indications are that the weather and road sare im proving and this circumstance should force the rise of the curtain within twenty-lour hours.
